THE GENESIS OF A NEW ERA DESIGN AND INNOVATION

Engineered with HYPERFORCE™, the world's first Tensoelastic Fabric, the POWERSKIN Primo utilizes the latest and most advanced innovations in textile technology to deliver our most powerful all-over compression combined with unparalleled elasticity and freedom of movement.

POWERSKIN PRIMO IS DESIGNED TO BE EASY TO GET ON

Unlike traditional high-compression race suits that can require up to 45 minutes to get on, POWERSKIN Primo's unique HYPERFORCE™ Fabric is highly elastic – allowing the suit to easily slide over hips and shoulders and be ready to race in as little as 5 minutes, so you can spend less time changing and more time preparing to be your best. Once on the body, the power of the HYPERFORCE™ fabric engages – delivering maximum compression while retaining an unprecedented level of flexibility and range of motion.

HOW DO I KNOW I'M IN THE RIGHT SIZE?

Consult the size chart (located on the back of the box) and ensure that your measurements align with the recommended size. Unlike traditional suits, the time it takes to get into POWERSKIN Primo is not an indicator of sizing accuracy. Once on the body, POWERSKIN Primo will deliver our most powerful compression and allow you to experience a new level of comfort and freedom of movement; this is the magic of HYPERFORCE™.

CAN I SIZE DOWN FOR MORE COMPRESSION?

The POWERSKIN Primo is a first-of-its-kind and unlike any suit you've ever experienced. Confirm that your measurements align with the recommended size on the POWERSKIN Primo size chart (located on the back of the box). Unlike traditional race suits offering compression or flexibility, POWERSKIN Primo is both our most compressive and most flexible suit, and will likely feel very different from any suit you've tried before. Due to the exceptional power of the HYPERFORCE™ fabric, sizing down is not recommended as the extreme levels of compression may restrict freedom of movement and decrease the overall performance of the suit.
